

The Phillips Collection and the University of Maryland present

INTERNATIONAL FORUM IN WASHINGTON

ARTISTS OF CONSCIENCE

Nature + Art + Climate + Change

November 10, 2018, 2-5 pm

The Phillips Collection, 1600 21st Street, NW, Washington, DC (Dupont Circle Metro)

The Phillips Collection’s International Forum is rooted in the institution’s aim to contribute to the global conversation through the language of modern and contemporary art. A joint presentation with the University of Maryland, this year’s afternoon of dialogue will bring together leaders across disciplines to discuss the great implications and meaning of “Nature + Art + Climate + Change.”

The program will include presentations by:

Meg Webster, artist

Hannes Koch and Florian Ortkrass, founders of Random International and creators of Rain Room

Henry Elkus, CEO of Helena

And one-on-one conversations with:

Dr. Hester Baer, Associate Professor and Head of the German Department

Dr. Robert Orr, Dean of the School of Public Policy and former United Nations Assistant Secretary-General for Policy Planning.

RSVP to Kelley Daley at kdaley@phillipscollection.org

Aerial view of Climeworks’ carbon capture plant in Hinwil, Switzerland, supported by Helena; Meg Webster, Growing Under Solar Panels, 2018, Storm King Art Center, Cornwall, New York; and Random International, Rain Room, 2012, Barbican, London; MoMA, New York; Yuz M, Shanghai; LACMA, Los Angeles; The Maxine and Stuart Frankel Foundation for Art, Bloomfield Hills, Michigan

TOP: Meg Webster, Henry Elkus, Hannes Koch and Florian Ortkrass

